As part of providing the psychological services to you, Robert M. Curtis & Associates will need to collect and record contact, billing and personal information relevant to your current situation, including any arising incident reporting. This information is stored securely, held for at least 7 years, and will be a necessary part of the psychological assessment and treatment/ care that is conducted. Information is stored both electronically & in paper form. You can refuse to provide information and use a pseudonym name, but this will need to be discussed as it limits services.

- You have the right to have explained, refuse and be part of any decisions made in tailoring your service.
- The Charter for Clients of Psychologists explains your rights as a client. You may request a copy or download from our website. In most cases it is best to try and first resolve concerns with your psychologist.
- We endeavour to work to the highest standard with children and young people and a copy of our Child Safe Policy is displayed in our reception area and can be viewed or downloaded from our website.
- You may follow up concerns about treatment and professional behaviour by the psychologist if you feel they have not been resolved, by contacting the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA www.ahpra.gov.au); The NDIS Complaints Commission 1800 035 544; NSW Disability Advocacy 1800 643 787 You can locate a Disability Advocate to speak for you by visiting www.disabilityadvocacyfinder.dss.gov.au
- We will contact you if we become aware of a data breach and where there is a real risk of serious harm, we are also required under the National Data Breach scheme (NDB) to notify the OAIC. www.oaic.gov.au
- If you wish to make a complaint over a breach, contact the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) by phone on 1300 363 992, online at <http://www.oaic.gov.au/privacy/making-a-privacy-complaint> or by post to: Office of the OIAC, GPO Box 5218, Sydney, NSW 2001.
- You may access the material recorded in your file upon request to the Practice Manager/Principal Psychologist subject to the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) and Information Privacy Principles. You may review/discuss the information on file or be provided with a copy for a cost. These requests will be responded to in writing within 21 days and appointment will be made if necessary, for clarification purposes.
- Internet and text messaging (email, SMS) may take two business days before you receive a response.
- Telehealth uses the Advanced Encryption Standard (AES) and complies with advice given by our professional associations, the Australian Psychological Society (APS) and AAPI.

Confidentiality & Access

All personal information gathered by the psychologist during the provision of the psychological service will remain confidential and secured except when:

1. It is subpoenaed by a Court or is otherwise required or authorised by law.
2. Failure to disclose the information would place you or another person/child at risk; or
3. Your written approval has been obtained to
 - a) Provide a written report to another professional or agency e.g. GP or lawyer; or
 - b) Discuss the material with another person e.g. parent/carer or employer/nominee.
4. Where a reasonable expectation of disclosure exists: When referred by your GP under a Mental Health Care Plan, Medicare requirements mandate the Psychologist provide letters back to your referring GP. Other agencies, such as The Attorney General’s Victim Services; Veterans or Insurance companies may have similar service approval and reporting requirements. Requests for psychometric data will only be considered from appropriately qualified practitioners and will require a signed Exchange of Information Request form.
